Cement Australia announces sale of Rockhampton facility

Cement Australia has signed an agreement to sell its facility at Parkhurst, north of Rockhampton to Queensland Magnesia.

The sale includes all plant and equipment remaining on the site, which was mothballed by Cement Australia in 2009.

Cement Australia wishes to acknowledge and thank former employees and those who have been associated with the plant since it was first commissioned in the 1960s.

The sale is subject to a number of pre-conditions. It is expected that these conditions will be satisfied by the end of 2011 and the sale will settle shortly thereafter.
