Holding Statement - Updated

Cornwall Coal is continuing to work with both the geotechnical consultants and the Department of Mines to ensure the overall integrity of the Blackwood colliery following last weeks landslips.

It is planned that power will be restored to the site by the end of the week, with mining operations planned to recommence at Blackwood by the end of next week.

The roads surrounding the mine have been reopened and deliveries to customer have recommenced.

Further updates will be forthcoming as the information is available.
